POLICY

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that the Human Sexuality Curriculum taught at Ogden Preparatory Academy (the "School") is compliant with state law. The School will comply with applicable state law regarding the presentation of Human sexuality instruction or instructional programs.

"Human sexuality instruction or instructional programs" means any course, unit, class, activity or presentation that provides instruction or information to students about sexual abstinence, human reproduction, reproductive anatomy, physiology, pregnancy, marriage, childbirth, parenthood, contraception, or HIV/AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases. While these topics are most likely discussed in courses such as health education, health occupations, human biology, physiology, parenting, adult roles, psychology, sociology, child development, and biology, this policy applies to any course or class in which these topics are the focus of discussion.
